Description - Students' own behaviors contribute significantly to their learning and the likelihood that they will successfully attain their educational goals.